Privileged climate of southern Andalusia

Arriate enjoys a temperate Mediterranean climate, with mild winters and warm summers that are more pleasant than on the coast, thanks to the altitude of the Serranía de Ronda mountain range. This allows you to enjoy outdoor spaces much of the year, hosting al fresco meals, relaxing by the pool, and taking advantage of the abundant natural light that characterizes southern Spain.

Surroundings and Lifestyle

Arriate is a whitewashed Andalusian village known for its peaceful and welcoming atmosphere. It has cafes, bakeries, small supermarkets, pharmacies, banks, and restaurants just minutes away. Its cultural calendar includes fairs, festivals, and traditions that keep the Andalusian spirit alive.

Ronda, just 10 minutes away, is one of the most visited destinations in Andalusia. It offers historical monuments such as the Puente Nuevo, wineries, hiking trails, year-round cultural events, and cuisine ranging from traditional tapas to haute cuisine.

Less than an hour away, the Costa del Sol offers beaches, golf, marinas, and a wide range of international leisure options.

Malaga Airport (AGP) connects with Europe and the rest of the world in just over an hour by car.

A unique opportunity

This property combines the timeless charm of an Andalusian villa with modern comfort, in a secure residential setting with no community fees. It's perfect both as a permanent residence for those looking to transition to a quieter, sunnier lifestyle, and for those looking for a second home where they can enjoy southern Spain year-round.
