Axarquía, Sedella

This lovely south-facing villa is located near the charming white village of Sedella in the Axarquía region (Málaga province). The villa has very good access and a nice private driveway. The views over the mountain landscape and the valley are magnificent. The garden with its Mediterranean trees, swimming pool and cosy terraces is easily accessible. The south-facing location means you can enjoy the lovely Andalusian sun all day long. Upon entering, one immediately notices the beautiful marble floor that still looks like new. The kitchen with dining area is large and has a storage room that also includes the washing machine. There are 3 bedrooms, 1 of them currently used as a storage room. The bathroom has a shower, toilet and a bath. The villa has air conditioning and a well-functioning fireplace. There is double glazing throughout the property.

Located between the Sierras de Tejeda and Aljara, in the heart of the Axarquía, Sedella is a village that has retained the essence of its Moorish past. Its white flower-decorated houses and secluded streets are the hallmark of this village, surrounded by beautiful landscapes. The village has terraces and a local supermarket for basic needs.

Sedella is part of the Mudéjar Route, a route that offers the opportunity to travel back to the period of Islamic rule through the Andalusian heritage that this area of inland Malaga cherishes.
