Malaga Inland, Casarabonela

In the green surroundings of Casarabonela, you will find this beautiful Andalusian new-build house, in an oasis of peace and quiet just 2 km from this white idyllic Spanish village.

The property can be reached via a rural all-asphalt road.

The house is built from modern design, with a thick nod to typical Spanish exterior features.

From foundation to roof, care has been taken in construction which makes the house have an excellent finish with attention to detail and quality.

In the living room, you will find an immense window area through which, because of the phenomenal south, south-east views over the mountains and the vast landscape, you experience the outdoors inside as well.

What makes this property extra attractive, you can add your own 'finishing touches' so that you can furnish the property completely according to your own taste and wishes.

This property has the absolute -WOW- factor for those who demand high comfort and quality on the 'Spanish campo'.

The property is connected to municipal water and also has a water storage unit for 30,000 litres of water.

There are important features of the property that are too many to mention.

Just a few are:

- * 100 m2 concrete path running through the olive grove to the property.
- * An environmentally and climate friendly swimming pool with treated Scandinavian red pine panels.
- * 9000m2 of own land of which the immediate surroundings of the house can be arranged and planted to your own taste.
- * Two ensuite bedrooms and an extra spacious bathroom with guest toilet.
- * The master bedroom has a luxury hotel suite interior with jacuzzi and direct access to the pool.
- * There is a separate utility room for the washing machine with access to the outside.
